From: Kate Stuchbury [redacted]

Sent: Tue 28/03/2023 1:10:11 AM (UTC)

To: SEELEY, Nick [redacted] Kym Bancroft [redacted]

Subject: Assessment chronology - triaging

Attachment: Assessment chronology.docx

Hi Nick

Sorry it took me a bit longer than expected.

Have pieced together a quick summary and overview of key events.

Please note: Not all interactions are captured in key events.

Overview of what I have been able to piece together:

- OIR had started to adopt an internal practice of directing CFMEU calls to Assessment Services.
- On 17 August 2022, DDG OIR agreed to CFMEU position that this practice not occur but would require CFMEU input into an alternative process.
- Numerous attempts to meet to discuss / invitation to provide input into development of processes (temporary and permanent).
- On 25 October 2022, protected industrial action commenced requiring OIR to temporarily change triaging process.
- On 27 October 2022, DDG OIR and DG confirmed OIR would be reviewing the triaging process and encouraged unions to provide input into development of new process.
- On 23 December 2022, protected industrial action ceased.
- In early January 2023, unions continue to express dissatisfaction with proposals to change triaging process, with one union putting forward a suggestion whereby all notifications / requests are made directly to DDG.
- On 12 January 2023, DDG OIR invited unions to phone health and safety matters through to the Regional Directors and communicated change to staff.
- On 7 February 2023, DDG OIR wrote to unions requesting that from 13 February 2023, requests be sent to Regional Directors (temporary change).
- On 17 March 2023, DDG OIR wrote to unions to outlining proposed new permanent process for triaging requests and providing opportunity to comment.
- The 14-day consultation period concludes on 31 March.
- Subject to stakeholders identifying any critical impediments to the implementation of the permanent process it will potentially take effect mid-April 2023.

Regards

Kate

Queensland Government Kate Stuchbury
Executive Director
Office of Industrial Relations

[redacted]